

April 11

Latest member of the PMI Analytical Team

PMI Analytical is pleased to announce the appointment of Andy Redfern as Technical Sales Manager. Andy's extensive background within the Aerospace/Gas Turbine Coatings and Repair Industry means he is a welcome addition to the PMI Analytical team . With expertise in areas such as applications and Process Development Engineering . Andy has spent the past 5 years working in the Material Science sector , working with industry and academic organisations in both production and R&D projects in a technical sales capacity . We would like to welcome Andy into PMI Analytical and wish him continued success for the future.

Martin Lees, UK Technical Sales Manager

April 11

PMI are pleased to announce they have been appointed UK agent for the Qness Range of high end Macro and Micro hardness testers. These units are designed and built in Austria with the emphasis on highly engineered design and latest developments in software for hardness test routines.